

A Typical Day

Look what I wrote. This is a typical day.

The class of SE1b had the opportunity to use their writing competencies in which they wrote about their typical day. What's more, with this task they showed true organizational skills that will help them in future whatever the writing task.

The five main parts that you all can take from such an interesting task is:

exploring – engaging – creativity – connectors – divergent thinking

Thank you all for participating – GREAT WORK!

Best wishes, Miss Down
